PAINS NEARLY DOUBLED ME UP

Nothing Helped Me Until I Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Wyandotte, Mich.—"For the last four years I have suffered off and on without relief. I have had every month so bad that I would nearly double up. Sometimes I could not sweep a room without stopping for rest, and everything I ate upset my stomach. I have a child and a wife, so I was so badly that I was out of my head at times. My bowels did not move for days and I could not eat without suffering. The doctor could not help me and one day I told my husband that I could not stand the pain any longer and sent him to the drug-store to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and threw the doctor's prescription away. After taking three bottles of Vegetable Compound and using two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash I could do my own housework. If it had not been for your medicine I don't know where I would be today and I am never without a bottle of it in the house. You may publish this if you like that it may help some other woman."—Mrs. MARY STENDER, 120 Orange St., Wyandotte, Mich.

"I ALWAYS keep Dr. King's New Discovery handy. It breaks up hard, stubborn colds and stops the paroxysms of coughing."—No harmful drugs, but just good medicine. At your druggist, 60¢ and $1.20 a bottle.

A few days before, and you are all right."

Where He Belonged. "Hiram," said Mrs. Corotoss, "what band wagon are you going to ride on?"

"Mehitable" was the reply. "I know how I am goin' to vote, but I won't be flourishin' on any band wagon. I am not sufficiently prominent to have a seat and be examined by the adulphorine. I'm only one of the fellers that are supposed to be proud and happy if they are invited to climb down every now and then and crank up the car."

SEASONABLE RECIPES.

Pears will be in the market until Thanksgiving time and after. One of the preserve combinations which will be new to us is:

Pineapple and Pear Conserve. To each pound of fruit allow three-fourths of a cupful of boiling water. Dissolve the sugar in the water and let it heat to the boiling point. Cut the pears in halves, lengthwise. Remove the cores and skin and add to the hot syrup; let cook until the pears are tender. Add, for each pound of pears, one can of pineapple, the slices cut in quarters; add the syrup from the can and cook until the fruit is transparent. Can and seal as usual.

Pineapple Cream. Boil one-third of a cupful of sugar and half a cupful of grated pineapple, juice and pulp, until it makes a soft ball in cold water. Pour in a fine stream on the white of one egg beaten stiff. When cool fold in one cupful of cream beaten light, add a tablespoonful of lemon juice and fill the mold, chill and let stand until firm.

Plain Sponge Cake. Beat the whites of three eggs until stiff and the yolks until thick. Into the yolks gradually beat one cupful of sugar, add one tablespoonful of lemon juice and two tablespoonsfuls of cold water. Fold in the whites and one cupful of sifted flour alternately. Bake in a tube pan "bitty to forty minutes.

Smiles and smiles. And by and by there's miles of smiles. And life's worth while because you smile.

THE TURKEY OF THE SEA.

Tuna fish has been called "the turkey of the sea" and it is easy to imagine when eating the delicate flavored fish, that it is a near relative to the turkey or chicken. Tuna fish, flaky white and delicious, may be used in nearly all recipes where the meat of poultry is used.

A sandwich which is suited for dark breads may be prepared as follows: Make a paste of three hard-cooked egg yolks, two tablespoonsfuls of butter; add one-half cupful of tuna, one-half teaspoonful of dry mustard and one teaspoonful of chopped capers. Chop the whites very fine and add. If the mixture seems dry add a little vinegar and olive oil.

How to Live More Than One Hundred Years? is the title of a recent book. But what, we desire to ask, would be the object?—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Crab Boards.

There are nine different kinds of crab boards used by the various tribes of North American Indians.

The Eskimos did not use such a board.

The baby was wrapped in the hood of the mother's fur coat. In the most southern tribes the baby was merely bound to the mother's back by a strip of cloth long enough to hold it.

Cook slowly for one hour, add one cupful of chopped peanuts, one cupful of tuna flaked, salt and pepper. Cook one-half hour longer and serve.

Tuna Souffle.—Melt two tablespoonsfuls of butter in a saucepan, add three tablespoonsfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, cayenne to taste, three-fourths of a cupful of milk, cook until thick, add three well-beaten yolks and one cupful of tuna. REALLY NOTHING MUCH DOING

Lige Parsons Was Not Actually on the Warpath, but it Seemed There Were Casualties.

"Everybody expects a Kentuckian to tell a 'feud' story," stated Governor Morrow of Kentucky recently. "The thing has really been much overdone, but the story of Lige Parsons may be worth telling. Lige dropped into the courthouse to see his friend, the pro-bate judge.

"Howdy, Lige!" greeted the judge.

"Howdy, judge."

"What's doin' down your way, Lige?"

"Nuthin', judge, nuthin'."

"Tother evenin' I was a-settin' a-readin' of my Bible, judge," spoke up Lige, when some shootin' began. One of my gals said 'twas the Harris boys down by the middle pasture. Now, judge, I didn't mind them Harris boys a-shootin', but I was afraid a stray bullet might hit a calf or one of the kids, so I picked up my rifle and dropped a few shots down that way and went back a-readin' of my Bible. Next mornin' I went down that way an' they was all gone 'cept four."

HONORED AS GREAT TEACHER

Works of Euclid, Ancient Mathematician, the Foundation of the Science of Geometry.

Euclid was an ancient mathematician, who is said by some to have flourished in the third century before the Christian era. It is generally held that he was a Greek, but the date and place of his birth are unknown. It is generally held that much of his work was done at Alexandria, Egypt, which in those ancient times was a famous seat of learning and the center of extensive commerce. The most famous work of Euclid that has come down to us is the Elements of Geometry in 13 books. The first six are the most valuable. They contain the foundation of geometry, on which is based several branches of higher mathematics. These books are still used in schools and colleges. The next three books deal with the properties of numbers but they are superseded by modern arithmetic. Euclid also left other works, such as treatises on harmony and optics.

WHEN A WOMAN IS NERVOUS—WORRIED

Most women neglect their health, and for this they pay the penalty. Any woman will find that neglect does not pay. A little more attention to health would brighten up her life. If she asks her neighbors she finds that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription benefits a woman's whole system. It not only acts upon the troubles and weaknesses peculiar to women, but is an all-round tonic that braces the entire body, overcoming nervousness, sleeplessness, headaches, dizziness and a run-down condition.

SELMA, ALA.—"For about six months I have been going down in health. I would have pains thru the back of my neck and shoulders, and suffered with backache all the time, also pains in my side. My appetite left me, I became very weak and extremely nervous. I tried different medicines but did not get better." Then my mother advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription which I did. I am now on my third bottle and the results have been very satisfactory. I am stronger; my appetite has returned, and I am feeling so much better in every way. Other women who suffer will not regret having given it a trial."—MRS. N. W. GRAHAM, 2301 E. Alabama Ave.

Poiteness That Pays.
Two little girls, were seated before a plate that contained two bunches of grapes—one is very large and tempting, and perfect bunch, and the other a small and hard and green bunch. The youngsters regarded the two bunches for a space of time during which they said nothing. Finally, the polite child asked:

"Are you greedy?"

"No," said the other, "I'm not a bit greedy."

"Then," said the first child, "You choose."

Sea Coast Echo.

OMAR G. MORAL, Editor and Pub.

Editorial Correspondence to The Sea Coast Echo.

LOS ANGELES, CALIF., Jan. 5.—We have been over in Pasadena, the residential district of California where the multi-millionaires of the East have built homes.

The famous Bush home (of the Anheuser-Bush fame) with its fairy and sunken gardens are here. The government having taken over this property during the war, members of the family do not occupy it now. However, the grounds are open to the public and an admission is charged to visit the gardens.

Annual Tournament of Roses at Pasadena.

But Pasadena is better known as the scene of the annual tournament of roses, held every year on New Year's Day, and dating back thirty-two years. It was our good fortune to witness this wonderful pageant comprising over one hundred floats, all motor driven, and representations constructed entirely of natural flowers. Artificial flowers forfeit the rights of entrance. The carnation in all colors was prominent, and the geranium and pointsettias of flaming red equally so prominent. How many people witnessed the pageant, which consumed two hours in passing a given point, is hard to estimate, but fabulous prices are paid by automobile owners, with their family, to park in the front yards or lawns of dwellings along the route of parade. One gentleman, street, at the corner of the route told me he was there since six o'clock the who had his car parked on a side evening before like many others. No crowd on Canal Street for the New Orleans Mardi Gras ever equalled this one. The order of so large a crowd appealed to me strongly. The weather was warm and balmy, and the crowds enjoyed the pageant of natural roses—the like of which is not had in any other part of the world.

Facts About Rose Tournament.

The following interesting facts concerning the tournament of roses were given me the day before the parade by a newspaper man:

The entries in the floral pageant are over 100.

There has been as many as 100,000 cut blossoms used on a single float.

It required the labor of more than 5,000 persons working most of the night before the sun dawned on New Year's day to decorate the floats.

Counting the labor and actual expenditures, the floats and flowers-decked entries probably represent an expenditure in the neighborhood of nearly $50,000.

All the live flowers have to be put in place not more than twelve hours before the parade starts. Thus only the foundations for the flowers may be constructed long in advance.

About 2,000 people actually ride in the pageant—mostly girls in costumes.

Floats from ten to twenty in number, represent other cities of Southern California—making the Tournament of Roses really a floral greeting to guests and home folk for All Southern California.

The Tournament of Roses Association has purchased and deeded to the city Tournament Park over 20 acres where the great annual foot-ball game is held and where scores of other athletic events of moment have taken place, including the 1920 western tryouts for the Olympic games.

The Tournament of Roses Association maintains all-the-year-around headquarters, but has very few paid employees. Most of the work is voluntarily done by citizens and members of the organization.

Citrus Crop Largest in History.

But flowers are not the only product of California that attract attention. Fruit is dominant product. The orange and lemon trees are burdened with their yield just now. Yesterday we rode fifty odd miles thru orange groves, extending from Los Angeles to Riverside. What a sight! One never to be forgotten. Here are the "Sunkist" fruit. Mrs. Moreau was privileged to pick all she could carry. Here and there were vineyards and orchards of walnuts and olives, but the eye for over fifty miles never lost sight of oranges golden in the bright warm sun of California.

California's citrus fruit crop for the season of 1920-21, is estimated to be the largest in the history of the state. Production will exceed that of last year by 18,000 car loads, and that of the record years, 1916-17, by 6,000 car loads, according to the statistics made public by the California Fruit Growers' Exchange.

In the fruit business, each marketing season develops a series of conditions that are unlike those of any other year. In spite of the fact that members of the association will have a larger crop this year, conditions are such that the financial return for the fruit will not be greater than that of last year. Increased freight rates, lower market prices, and increased cost of materials, entering into packing the fruit, are given as contributing causes to the anticipated slump in returns.

It is estimated that more than 60,000 car loads of oranges, lemons and grape fruit will be available for shipment from the state. Of that total, oranges will constitute the loads of 47,400 cars; lemons, 12,000 cars, and grapefruit, 860 cars. At the present time the northern California fruit has been harvested and the southern crop is being packed. It is stated by officials of the association.

Train 872 Miles Long.

Some idea of the size of the crop can be had from the fact that when the 31,470,000 boxes of fruit are placed aboard freight cars, a train 472 miles long or one reaching from Los Angeles to beyond San Francisco would be formed. To move such a train would require 100 of the largest freight locomotives in existence.

The shippers will be required to hire three "dinkies" (small freight cars) and grain cars, in addition to the South Pole.

When it is considered that each box contains no less than 100 boxes of the number of oranges picked during the season, it is evident. Many boxes will contain as high as 150 oranges. It is stated, "Each car load of fruit is valued at $120, making a total for the crop of $168,000,000, based on last year's market price."

Freight and Competition.

While to the observer it seems that fruit raising in California is but a primrose path to be followed to fortune, the growers are not without problems that sometimes seem insurmountable. Despite the abundance of the crop this year, members of the association face a serious condition. Freight rates have been raised to a point where they eat materially into the net returns of the growers. Such a condition is more pronounced in the lemon section, which comes into competition with foreign growers.

Due to a deflation in Italian money, Sicilian lemon growers can market their lemons on the Atlantic seaboard of the United States, at a price less than the cost of picking, boxing and transporting to the California grower. As a result of this condition, only the last select of California's lemon crop is being picked this season. But a small return will be had from the lemon crop, and to a majority of the growers, the lemon crop is a total loss. An emergency rate of 84 cents per box on lemons has been requested of trans-continental railroads, but it is doubtful, it is said, that the request will be so granted. The rate asked is the same as charged prior to the war. Millions of lemons are being dumped and a great many packing houses are closed as a result of foreign competition.

Materials Have Advanced.

All items entering into the manufacturing of oranges have advanced it is stated. Orange boxes cost the grower eight cents more this season than they did last year. Wrappers are quoted at twice the former price per case. It is estimated that despite the fact that the orange crop is approximately twice the size of that of last season, the net return to growers will not equal the amount of the return last year. Increased cost of materials in picking and packing, and taken with greatly increased freight rates and because the crop will meet with a lower market price, contribute to the seemingly paradoxical condition.

It cost a grower a dollar and a half to ship a box of oranges from California under a blanket rate, which included the territory from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic coast. The freight charge is borne by the grower, as the fruit is sold on a basis of delivery. Prior to the increases in rates, the cost of transportation in a box of oranges was but $1.15, or 35¢ less than the present price.
